
Title: Thanks

Author: The Baron

Hello Mr Bennu,

I just wanted to say thanks. You might feel unappreciated sometimes, but really, its just a small bunch of oxygen pirates with far too many accounts - UO and Stratics - who think that they have a right to be jerks because they can type.

We, the REAL player base, are quiet. We keep to ourselves, because we don't want to have a mental stalker following us around. But we DO appreciate all the work you put into events. We appreciate you giving up your own time for UO. You could be out there playing the game, but here you are, being hellishly creative and imaginative, for our benefit.

So, the next time someone who left his brain on the bus complains about drops, about events, about the weather, or just about what you are wearing in-game, remember - they are one tiny, tiny little speck on the sleeve of UO. You sir, are one of UO's greats.

Keep the greatness coming. Just because a noisy little kid is keeping our appreciation from being heard, doesn't mean it isn't there.

I had to tell you that. I hope it helps make your day a bit better.

Thank you.